It was the warmth and friendliness of Rossall School that helped make the choice of school easier for middle school pupil, Janine. Luckily, her parents made her part of the decision making process when choosing a school and three years on, she is delighted that her initial feelings were considered.

At fourteen years old, Anchor House pupil, Janine is in her last year of middle school and is thinking of senior school, GCSE's, Sixth Form and beyond. She admits to being a little diffident when she first attended the school but boarding has given her much more confidence and a feeling of camaraderie that was missing previously from her school life.

“Being at Rossall is like having one big sleepover with friends, which means a lot because I spend most of my time here. What I also love about it here is that there is so much to do both in and out of school time, with sports, art and music, so it's never boring.”

With natural shyness overcome, Janine has blossomed academically and become involved in all aspects of school life, including enrolment in the school's Combined Cadet Force, which has spurred her on to enter for the Duke of Edinburgh Award.

The gifted youngster from Tarvin, near Chester is also developing as a musician and has reached grade 4 in both piano and clarinet. This, combined with her achievements in Art, DT and Maths perhaps indicate a creative path for Janine.

“I don't really know what I want to do once I leave here after Sixth Form. I have lots of ideas. I've always wanted to be a vet but it's still a little early to say what I will do once I leave school.”
